

A photograph of a forest path. The path is made of dirt and is lined with tall, slender trees with light-colored bark. The ground is covered with green grass and some small white flowers. The trees are dense, and their leaves create a canopy overhead. The overall scene is peaceful and natural.

Gentle Reflections..

*Your companion in times
of Quiet..*

*I dedicate this publication to our son Craig
who passed away in August 2007*

His wisdom & photography was admired by many people.

*I agreed & felt inspired as well as excited to share it,
so have put this work together.*

I've included some of his inspiration & have added inspired words of my own to match each photograph. I now use Craig's camera, so feel in many ways I can see the world as he did through this.

I've included some of my photos too, hence the combined project.

*Craig and I trust
that you'll enjoy our book..*

Blessings to you all.

Life has a starting point..

*But we may have been here
before..*

*We all hold the unfurled
potential to be Amazing!!*

*We just need to open to life
with Trust
to reveal our hidden magnificence..*

It's our I AM all that I AM presence..
